

After A Root Canal

Root Canal Therapy is a form of treatment that preserves the natural tooth.

It may require 1-3 dental visits to complete a root canal.

If you are given a prescription, it should be taken after your appointment. Otherwise, a pain reliever like Advil or Tylenol may be taken as needed.

It is important to take ALL of your medication.

The problem with this tooth has been developing for quite awhile. It may take several weeks to heal after treatment has been completed.

Should you experience any unusual facial pain or swelling, please call our office immediately.

Now that the tooth is no longer alive, it may become brittle. Therefore, we usually advise that you have a crown made to protect the tooth.

Please call our office if you have any questions or concerns. We are always happy to help you.
